Five Committeemen File Petitions In Bankruptcy.

Proceedings in bankruptcy on the part of the defendants, J. W. Larkin, Morin Moore, A. B. Smith, H. C. Smith, Clarence Hough and N. A. Moore, members of the Republican County Committee, against each of whom a verdict for damages in the sum of $15,000 in favor of J. D. McClintock was rendered at the last March term of the Bourbon circuit court, were instituted in the United States Court at Richmond Monday.

It is claimed by some that this will arrest the enforcement of the judgment of the Bourbon Circuit Court, while others assert that these defendants cannot get relief in this manner.

The petitions in bankruptcy were prepared two weeks ago, in anticipation of an adverse decision by Judge Stout of the motion asking for a new trial, and were filed at Richmond at 2 o'clock p. m. with United States Deputy Court Clerk W. C. Bennett, by Attorneys John J. Williams and C. J. Barnes, of this city.

When McClintock secured judgement against the defendants he sought to attach property belonging to two of them and was successful in two cases.

To have appealed the judgment of the Bourbon Circuit Court to the Court of Appeals was the last recourse of the defendants in the State courts and unless that was done the judgment of the lower court could have been placed in the hands of the Sheriff for execution, if no property was found then the next proceeding would have been to place the defendants in jail under an order of arrest, forcing each of them to take the insolvent debtors' oath. If the defendants are declared bankrupts by the U. S. Court, which there is grave doubts by Mr. McClintock's attorneys, they will after all, in a sense, defeat their political enemy all along the line, for at present they are in control of the Republican situation in Bourbon. While the breach in the ranks is widening Democrats are smiling at what was called a great harmony convention held by the Republicans in this city a few days ago.

Scott County Delegate Drowned.

Hugh Frank Jouett, of Oxford, Scott county, was the man whose body was taken from the Ohio River at Louisville Tuesday. Relatives made the identification. Much mystery attaches to the case. Though body bore no outward evidence of violence, several of his relatives believe that the drowning, if drowning it was, did not result from accident. Jouett left Georgetown as a delegate to attend the Republican convention at Louisville. Information that he had become engaged in a quarrel there with a man with whom he had been at swords' points for years has come to the ears of these relatives. They say they will demand a searching investigation.

Jouett was connected with the United States revenue service. He was 55 years of age.

Senator Davis Homestead Offered For Paris Hospital.

Mr. James E. Ford now comes with a generous offer to the Ladies' Hospital Circle, which, if accepted, will settle all argument in regard to the selection of a site for the hospital.

Mr. Ford owns the residence on Winchester street, entrance also on Vine street, formerly the home of the late United States Senator Garrett M. Davis, makes a liberal offer for the sale of the property. The valuation of the building, including one and one-half acres of ground, is placed by Mr. Ford at $6,000—one thousand of which, if the deal is completed, to revert to the Hospital Fund as Mr. Ford's donation to the institution. The original cost of the building was $13,000. It was erected about 1854 by Senator Davis, the construction work being in charge of the late Hon. Brutus J. Clay, father of Hon. Cassius M. Clay, and Charles Garrard, son of James Garrard, Governor of Kentucky, 1796-1804, and father of Mrs. C. A. Daugherty, of this city. The home contains twelve large rooms, halls, double verandas, slate roof, the entire construction being of brick and hard wood, and during its occupancy by Senator Davis was the scene of many brilliant social events in which distinguished men and women participated.

—Mrs. G. W. Judy entertained about one hundred and fifty ladies Tuesday afternoon from 2 to 6. The reception was a very elaborate affair. The guests were received at the door by Little Miss Alice Ingels, niece of the hostess, who ushered them into the presence of the hostess, Mrs. G. W. Judy, and her assistants, Mesdames O. W. Ingels, T. E. Savage, J. V. Ingels. From here the guests passed into the drawing room, which was beautifully decorated in red and white. Frappe was served by Mrs. A. C. Klockstein and others. Next they passed through the outer room into the hall, where they were registered by Miss Willie Hurst Johnson, of Paris; from there into the dining room, where brick cream and cake were served, the color scheme being pink and white. Lastly they passed into the parlor, where the eye was again relieved, the colors being yellow and green. The hostess was attired in white silk, as was most of her assistants. The guests were richly gowned and the occasion was one long to be remembered.

—For Rent.—Rooms in my flat suitable for housekeeping. MRS. LOU F. CONWAY.

—For Sale, feathers, old ones but good goosefeathers. MRS. M. J. CALDWELL.

—Miss Anna Belle Boulden, of this place, and Mr. Houston Hazelrigg Crouch, of Little Rock, were quietly married in the presence of a few friends at the home of Elder Mark Collis, Fayette Park, Lexington, at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. Mr. Crouch is a prosperous young farmer of Little Rock, the oldest son of Mr. J. T. Crouch, an extensive land owner and wealthy citizen of that community. Miss Boulden is the youngest daughter of Postmaster R. B. Boulden, of this place. She is a bright, attractive, handsome young lady, with a long line of ancestry dating back to Pocahontas. One of the remarkable features of this wedding was the hosiery she wore, which were the wedding stockings of her great-great-grandmother Martin. They were white silk exquisitely made and were worn by the fountain head of that branch of the family more than 100 years ago. They have been handed down as heirlooms from Martins, Johnsons, Conways and Bouldens, and are highly prized by the present possessor.

At the appointed time, to the soft, low strains of Wagoner's wedding march, played by Mr. R. M. Caldwell, of Millersburg, the bridal couple took their position and Elder Collis in an impressive style and beautiful ceremony pronounced the words which made them one for life. The bride was attired in a beautiful tailored gown of grey and white taffeta, with hat and gloves to match, carrying a bouquet of bride's roses. The groom wore the conventional black.

They were accompanied to Lexington by Misses Mary Louise Boulden,

Weather Sharps Puzzled.

The intense meteorological changes of the past few days have puzzled the weather sharps and in the popular mind the cause for the terrific storms is to be found in the big black spot now doing business on the face of the sun. The spot which is generally blamed for a eccentric weather is moving toward the Western end of the sun and is expected to disappear around the corner within the next two days.
